

Preschool Boost with AkindaCo

Approved OECD menu provider | Delivered in your centre | Programs for 2026 and 2027

Three things your Preschool Boost allocation can buy from AkindaCo. Everything is priced per session, not per person, and everything comes to your centre. Start with the booking form, or a free planning call if you would like to talk it through first.

TRAINING FOR YOUR TEAM

Attachment, Trauma and Child Development

- Six 3-hour units, fortnightly across one term
- Any number of educators for the one price
- Online or in your centre, evening or morning stream
- $855 + GST per unit · series $5,130

GROUP FOR CHILDREN

Learn to Play

- 8 to 10 children and two of your educators
- 17 weekly program visits plus a set-up visit, two terms
- Two hours each week, always in your room
- $570 + GST per visit · program $10,260

ALLIED HEALTH SUPPORTS

Therapists working with groups

- Our therapists alongside groups of children and educators
- Shaped to your centre's goals on the planning call
- Groups and educator capacity only, never individual therapy
- $194 + GST per hour

THE PROGRAMS

Each one stands alone

You can book any of the three on its own, or combine them. The training is for your team. Learn to Play is for a small group of children and the educators who work with them. Allied health supports bring our therapists into your centre to work with groups.

Attachment, Trauma and Child Development

For your whole team · six 3-hour units · $855 + GST per unit

A professional development series for early childhood educators, built on attachment theory, developmental neuroscience and trauma-informed practice. Teams learn to read attachment patterns and stress responses in children aged three to five, create environments that communicate safety, use co-regulation and emotional literacy in the moment, and embed therapeutic approaches into everyday routines. It is grounded in current research and clinical experience, and designed for the whole team, from room leaders to new educators, so that the change lasts.

- 1 Foundations of attachment and development
- 2 Understanding trauma in the early years
- 3 Creating safe and predictable environments
- 4 Co-regulation and emotional literacy
- 5 Embedding therapeutic practice into daily routines
- 6 Engaging families through an attachment lens

Who is it for?

Every educator in the centre. Any number of staff can attend each unit for the one price. Units build on each other, so we recommend the full series, but you can book any number of units in any order.

How does a term run?

Six units delivered fortnightly across one school term, starting in Week 1. On the alternate weeks, an optional 90-minute group supervision session helps your team apply each unit in your rooms. Choose a Tuesday evening stream (5:30 to 8:30 pm) or a Wednesday morning stream (9 am to 12 pm). Units run online or in your centre.

Can it be adapted for families?

Yes. The whole series can be delivered to families, or to a mixed group of educators and families. Ask on the planning call.

“The most powerful thing in a young child’s life is a consistent, caring adult who shows up every day. This training helps your team become exactly that.”

Read more about the training on akindaco.com

Learn to Play

For 8 to 10 children and two of your educators · weekly · $570 + GST per visit

Play is not a luxury. It is the work of childhood. Learn to Play is a structured, therapist-led group program based on Dr Karen Stagnitti’s internationally recognised approach, brought into your preschool room. It is for children who are not yet playing to their developmental potential, and it builds the blocks of pretend play: object substitution, doll and teddy play, role play, and the ability to create and sustain a play story. Those skills underpin language, social development and school readiness.

What does the program look like?

Seventeen program weeks plus a set-up visit, run as two 9-week blocks in consecutive terms. Every visit is the same shape: 30 minutes of educator training, a 60-minute group with the children, and 30 minutes of reflection and planning with your educators. Same day, same time, every week. The first visit is planning: we meet your team, confirm the children and set the right play level for the group.

Which children benefit most?

Children who seem stuck in their play, who repeat the same simple themes, who find it hard to join other children’s play stories, or whose communication is still emerging. That includes children with developmental delays, autism, language difficulties or trauma histories. Children are chosen for where they are in their play, not for their behaviour.

How is the group chosen?

Your educators nominate the children they think would benefit. Our therapist confirms the group at the planning visit, so that the children are at a similar stage of pretend play and the group works for everyone in it.

What do educators take away?

One clear play strategy each week, modelled in the group and discussed afterwards, plus language modelling techniques and growing confidence to run imaginative play themselves. By the end, your educators can run the group without us.

Evidence: Learn to Play maps to all five AEDC domains. Its primary domain on the Preschool Boost Menu is communication skills and general knowledge. See AkindaCo on the Preschool Boost Menu.

“Play is our brain’s favourite way of learning.”

Diane Ackerman

Read more about Learn to Play on akindaco.com

Allied health supports

For groups of children and educators · by the hour · $194 + GST per hour

Our therapists work in your centre with groups of children and the educators around them: observing rooms and routines, running small groups, modelling strategies and coaching your team. Preschool Boost funds group and capacity-building work, not individual assessment or therapy, and we hold to that.

What could it look like?

A block of visits around a goal you set, for example play environments, transitions, regulation in the room, or supporting a group of children with emerging communication. We scope it with you on the planning call and quote it by the hour, so it fits the allocation you have.

STEP BY STEP

How to book

1 Send a booking request, or book a call.

The form takes about five minutes. If you would rather talk first, book a free 30-minute planning call and we will fill the form in with you.

2 We send a quote and a provisional booking within two business days.

Dates are pencilled in from that point.

3 Hold your dates before your plan is approved.

Provisional bookings are welcome while your Preschool Boost plan is with the OECD. Confirm by email once it is approved. Quotes hold their price for 30 days.

4 Add AkindaCo as a supplier with your finance team.

Doing this at booking time saves a term of chasing later. Your invoice comes through Halaxy once you confirm, payable when your Preschool Boost funds are released or two weeks before your start date, whichever comes first.

5 We confirm your dates and your trainer or therapist.

Learn to Play begins with the planning visit. Training begins in Week 1 of your chosen term.

Changes to a booking need more than two weeks' notice before the start date. Rescheduling with two weeks' notice is free. Flying Start partner services build their Preschool Boost plans between August and November for the following year, so the best time to send a request is during that window.

PER SESSION, NOT PER PERSON

Pricing

Every price below is for the whole session, whatever the size of your team. The rate that applies is the one for the year your program starts.

Item	Starts in 2026	Starts in 2027
Training unit (3 hours)	$855	$887
Training unit plus one group supervision	$1,282.50	$1,330
Full training series (6 units)	$5,130	$5,322
Full series plus 6 group supervisions	$7,695	$7,980
Educator group supervision (90 minutes, up to 6 educators)	$427.50	$443
Learn to Play, per weekly visit	$570	$591
Learn to Play program: set-up visit plus 17 program weeks (18 visits)	$10,260	$10,638
Learn to Play starter block: set-up plus program weeks 1 to 8 (the first half; complete it in your next plan)	$5,130	$5,319
Allied health supports, per hour	$194	$201
Mentoring, in-room modelling or co-facilitation, per hour	$285	$295
Travel beyond 10 km of North Adelaide or Salisbury, per hour, pro-rated	$285	$295

All prices exclude GST. 2027 rates are our 2026 rates indexed by CPI at 3.8%. Travel is included within 10 km of our North Adelaide or Salisbury bases; beyond that it is charged by time at the hourly rate. Quotes hold their price for 30 days.

What your allocation buys, at 2027 rates

$4,500

Four training units plus one group supervision session

$5,500

The full six-unit training series. Or a Learn to Play starter block, with the second half in your next plan

$8,000

The full training series with six group supervision sessions

$11,000

The full Learn to Play program: set-up visit plus 17 program weeks

$16,000

Both programs

EXPECTATIONS

What we ask of your centre

For the training

- A room that fits your team, with a projector or a TV we can plug a laptop into. If there is neither, we bring printed slides.
- Educators released for the three hours of each unit, and 90 minutes for each supervision session if you add them.
- One contact person for dates, room set-up and invoicing.

For Learn to Play

- A play space for the group of 8 to 10 children, and a quiet spot for the educator sessions before and after.
- The same two educators every week, in the room for the full two hours. They are co-facilitators, learning the program alongside our therapist, so the session cannot cover breaks or ratios.
- Help choosing the children, and the same day and time each week.
- A few everyday toys set out from the short list we send the day before. We bring the Learn to Play kit and the weekly handout.

For both programs we need someone who can confirm the quote in writing, and a finance contact who can set AkindaCo up as a supplier.

LOGISTICS

Setting up your program

When can we start?

Training runs by school term from Week 1, in the Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning stream. Learn to Play runs weekly, in a morning slot (9:30 to 11:30 am) or an afternoon slot (1:30 to 3:30 pm), over two consecutive terms. Wednesday mornings fill first. 2027 terms are booking now.

How long does set-up take?

We confirm your trainer or therapist six weeks before you start, check your room and equipment four weeks out, and your invoice is due two weeks out. Booking a term ahead keeps everything comfortable.

What happens in school holidays and on public holidays?

Learn to Play pauses over the term break at no charge and picks up in Week 1 of the next term. Each 9-week block has one make-up week in hand for a public holiday or a centre closure, so the block still finishes inside the term.

Can it span two years, or two rooms?

Yes. The two Learn to Play blocks are always consecutive terms, so Terms 3 and 4 this year or Terms 1 and 2 next year both work. Within a week, the group can rotate between rooms or age groups if that suits your centre.

What if a session is cancelled?

If we cancel, for example because your therapist is unwell, we make the session up at the end of the block at no charge. If your centre cancels with less than two business days' notice, the session is charged and not made up, so please let us know as early as you can. If a program cannot be finished, the remaining paid sessions can be turned into educator training, coaching, or a play-environment consultation.

What do we get at the end?

An end-of-program summary you can use for your Preschool Boost reporting, CPD certificates for every educator who took part, certificates for the children in the Learn to Play group, and a team who can keep the play group going.

FREQUENTLY ASKED

Questions centres ask us

Is the 17 weeks for both programs?

Is the price per educator?

Can we book just one training unit?

How many staff can attend the training?

Can training run after hours, or in a staff meeting?

Can any of it be online?

We are outside metro Adelaide. Can you still come?

Can Learn to Play run fortnightly, or for fewer weeks?

How does Learn to Play fit the school year?

Can we hold dates before our Preschool Boost plan is approved?

Our group is bigger than ten children. Does that matter?

Can staff who miss a training unit catch up?

What do we need to provide?

What do we get for our Preschool Boost reporting?

Does this count as on-menu spending for a Flying Start partner service?

Who delivers the programs?

Will prices change?

Can we use allied health supports for one child?

Ready to plan your Preschool Boost year?

AkindaCo · hello@akindaco.com · 08 7081 5886 · akindaco.com
North Adelaide and Salisbury · ABN 75 665 349 584

Government of South Australia and Flying Start lock-up goes here

AkindaCo is an approved supplier on the Preschool Boost Menu of the Office for Early Childhood Development, Government of South Australia.

AkindaCo acknowledges that the Kurna people, the traditional custodians of the land on which we live and work, have always been creatively expressing, supporting and caring for community on these lands. We pay our respects to Elders past and present and recognise that sovereignty was never ceded.